

From: Scott West
To: Safety Culture
Subject: Safety Culture Framework - Public Comment
Date: January 27, 2014 12:53:24 PM
Attachments: image005.png

---

My name is Scott West and I work for Airo Wireless a manufacturer of Intrinsically Safe communications devices that target the Oil and Gas Industry. Based on our experience we would like to make the following recommendations for inclusion into your Safety Culture document.

Cultural Threat #4: Tolerance of Inadequate Systems and Resources

(definition paragraph)

The organization continues to rely on historical practices without investigating the benefits offered by new technology.

(attributes paragraph)

The organization fails to explore and integrate new technologies potentially capable of strengthening the safety environment.

(descriptor)

Lack of mandate to integrate new technologies that enhance safety procedures.

-
-

Cultural Defense #4: Resiliency

(definition paragraph)

The organization continually seeks better solutions which may introduce new technology.

(attributes paragraph)

The organization embraces change and utilizes new capabilities and encourages process transformation.

(descriptor)

The organization regularly challenges existing practices to understand benefits of new technology and its' potential to enhance safety.

Thank you for the opportunity to share our experience on this issue.

Scott West
North American Sales Manager

O: 404-526-9700, ext. 107 | M: 770-846-5919

website | email

Confidentiality Note: This email and any files transmitted with it are the CONFIDENTIAL and PROPRIETARY property of Airo Wireless, LLC, and are to be used solely for review by the intended recipients. If you have reason to believe that you have received this message in error, please notify the sender and delete this message immediately from your computer. Any other use, retention, dissemination, printing, copying, or the taking of any action in reliance on, the information in this email is strictly prohibited.